

Positive Belief Record & Core Continuum

PROGRESS
PSYCHOTHERAPY

Negative beliefs impact the way we think about ourselves, others and the world. We can change these over time. Page 1, the positive belief record is about thinking about our negative beliefs, evidence against and coming up with a more accurate and positive belief. Page 2, the core continuum is about changing these over time. You review the evidence for the positive belief (you can keep adding to this over time) and let your mind bring up pictures and feelings about the evidence to show you the positive truth. After this rate how much the old negative and positive beliefs feel true out of 100%

Date	% You believe old belief	% You believe new belief